

Hubble witnesses a cosmic tug of war

Hubble has detected the presence of dark energy in the young Universe. It appears that the cosmic "tug of war" between the pull of dark matter and the push of dark energy began at least 9 billion years ago, well before dark energy gained the upper hand and began accelerating the expansion of the Universe.

